PRECISION PSYCHOTHERAPY

SIGNATURES, PREDICTIONS, & CLINICAL UTILITY

09-11 OCTOBER, 2024

Although cognitive-behavioral therapy is a first-line treatment for internalizing disorders, a substantial proportion of patients still fail to benefit - with severe consequences for patients and costs for societies. The aim of our Research Unit 5187 is to use modern machine learning approaches to identify the best predictors for non-response.

In this year's symposium, we want to engage with the broader research community and discuss emerging topics in the field of precision psychotherapy. Join us for two days of exciting talks and networking opportunities.

We look forward to your participation!

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Dr. Ulrike Lueken
